Infinite Opportunity

Where?

- Butler County is located in Southwest Ohio, approximately 25 miles north of Cincinnati and 25 miles south of Dayton.
- Considered the center of a "metroplex" that connects Dayton in Montgomery County to Cincinnati in Hamilton County, Butler County utilizes an abundance of both railways and interstate highways.
- The county is conveniently within an hour's drive from two highly ranked international airports.

What?

- Butler County contains four medium sized cities: Fairfield, Hamilton, Middletown, and Oxford; the smaller cities of Monroe and Trenton; three rapidly growing urbanizing townships; Fairfield, Liberty and West Chester; and fifteen primarily rural townships and villages.
- Over ten state routes serve the county by connecting these cites, townships, and villages, such as SR. 73, SR. 747, SR. 129, and SR. 4.

Who?

Cincinnati CMSA: population by counties

Ohio:		Kentucky:		Indiana:
Hamilton:	816,684	Kenton:	166,051	Dearborn:	49,568
Butler:	382,378	Boone:	131,533	Ohio:	5,844
Warren:	232,173	Campbell:	93,152
Clermont:	205,466	Pendleton:	14,529
Brown:	43,602	Gallatin:	8,832
Total:	1,680,303		414,097		55,412

Dayton CMSA: population by counties

Ohio:
Montgomery:	532,331
Greene:	167,995
Clark:	134,585
Miami:	106,222
	938,133

Note: Figures are 2018 estimates from the U.S. Census Bureau

LEFT TO RIGHT: Historic Downtown Hamilton, Hueston Woods State Park in Oxford

bc Ohio
Butler County
— ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT —